New football kit

A new football strip has been unveiled commemorating the 175th anniversary of Newington Primary School. And it came together thanks to research from NHG.

Every element of the strip acknowledges something from the past 175 years.

The white collars are similar to those worn by young boys in the first known picture of Newington pupils, taken in 1889. The image, published in Thelma Dudley's book Newington Times Past, shows that, while the children didn't wear a uniform, most wore a high-necked jacket, with the white collar of a shirt folded over the top. The collar would, no doubt, have been detachable so that it could be washed more frequently than the main shirt.

The grey strip running vertically through the football tops is another nod to the colours in that same image.

The royal blue colour and the school badge both come from the 1980s when a formal uniform was first introduced and the school logo designed. The logo itself commemorates the school's history.

The cross marks Newington Primary as a Church of England school. Cherries recall the days when Newington was one of the most important cherry-growing areas in the country. And the bird in flight would have been recognised by everyone then as an almost constant resident in the eaves of their houses.

The 'halved' design of the shirt recalls the design of some football strips from the late Victorian period, when football started to become a more popular team sport. A few clubs, such as Blackburn Rovers, still have the same look.

The new kit was unveiled at a special assembly at the school, with members of both the boys' and the girls' teams putting it on for the first time. The first official outing was on January 23 when Charlton Athletic woman's team members visited Newington to run a training session.

As Thelma explains in her book, Newington Primary School was founded by the Church of England on land known as Poor Barn Garden in 1850. The land had been gifted to the parish in the 17th century by benefactor Simon Tomlyn. Present-day offices are still in what was the original schoolhouse.

The school has grown considerably in the 20th and 21st centuries. A new wing opened in 2000 marked the school's 150th anniversary, with the Princess Royal, Princess Anne, performing the opening ceremony.

There are lots of events planned for the coming year – including several for former pupils. If you attended the school or have a relative who did (even if not still alive) Newington History Group would love to hear from you.

Do you have green fingers and a desire to make our village brighter

The Parish Council is looking for some volunteers to look after some of our planters and to suggest locations for new ones!

Our wonderful Allotments Association has been looking after the plants around our village sign and is happy to continue, they have also very kindly offered to look after the two planters by the bus stop next door to the Bull. But we are looking for people who could “adopt” the other planters and also for ideas and volunteers for some more.

The Parish Council will pay for the new planters, soil, plants and bulbs but we need people to keep the planters tidy, updated and of course watered when needed. In addition if any of our local businesses would light to sponsor a planter – do get in touch!

So, if you feel able to commit to this, to help our village and our environment, do please message our Clerk email: clerk.npc@gmail.com and we will come back to you.

Village Sign Repairs

The village sign suffered some damage when it was blown over during one of January’s storms.

The sign is being repaired and a new column is being ordered

Mark your property to deter burglars

Property Marking

A determined burglar can be difficult to discourage. Good-quality doors, windows and locks are excellent deterrents, but there's even more you can do to stop burglars in their tracks.

Mark it

Make your valuables less attractive to thieves by using a property or police approved forensic marking solution only visible under Ultraviolet (UV) light. This can take the form of a special marker using ink or paint. Mark or etch your property with your postcode, house or flat number or the first three letters of your address. All of these measures help police identify stolen goods, making it harder for thieves to sell. So make your mark.

And property marking isn't only for things like electrical items and bikes, you can also mark high value belongings like antiques. However, we recommend that you seek specialist advice.

Register your property for free on www.immobilise.com – it helps the police identify the owners of recovered property. You can register anything that has a serial number with Immobilise.

Record it

Register your valuables using an accredited property database.

Take photographs and keep documents like receipts related to your property so you can prove ownership.

Register your bike

If you value your bike, then register it with www.bikeregister.com. The prominent stamp acts as a great deterrent.

Flag it it

If you value it, then mark it as protected. Window stickers and signage are extremely effective and are proven to be a powerful deterrent against burglary.

If you would like a property marking kit please pop into Sittingbourne Police Station front counter where we will provide you one.

Newington History Group

Monthly Talk

Hear about the history of Kemsley Paper Mill at NHG's talk on Thursday, February 27 (7pm) in Newington village hall.

Clare Marshall will explain what goes on inside the local factory that you'll have seen from the outside but have little idea of what it does or its history.

Claire has spent her working life in the paper industry and is an expert on the mill - the country's largest mill for recycled paper. She has just published a book about its 100 years from 1924 to 2024.

This public talk costs £4 (free to NHG members) including light refreshments. No booking required.

On Thursday, March 27, the guest speaker will be Doug Hudson. His topic A Kentish Songster will look at how Kent figures in songs. Doug is a well-known figure in the county being not only a professional entertainer, recording artiste and author, but his voice is familiar to thousands as the stadium announcer at Gillingham football club.

Dog Poo

Dog poo doesn't just look horrible, and it isn't just messy and a pain to clean up. It's dangerous. Every gram of dog poo contains 23 million bacteria, many of which can be passed on to humans – including campylobacteriosis, salmonellosis, toxocarisis (roundworms), coccidian, cysticercosis (tapeworms), E.coli, giardia and pario. The symptoms for many of these include fever, vomiting, diarrhoea and dehydration. As dog poo disintegrates, it also pollutes fresh water supplies, meaning it can affect the eco-system and could even end up in our drinking water. In fact, according to one source, dog poo is the number three cause of water pollution. Please clean up after your dog, think of our environment and use the bins provided.

Roman Road Runners

They run Tuesday 6.30pm (meeting at car wash) and Thursday 7pm (meeting at the rec entrance).

I still get regular complaints about off road bikes, mainly travelling along Bull Lane and Church Lane, however I still don't have names of those involved. There have been some complaints of a male with a small girl sitting on the front of an off road bike riding along Church Lane and Denham Road. I really want to know who these people are so that I can stop a serious incident occurring. Rogue Traders/Bogus Tradesmen

Bogus tradesmen, door-to-door sales or doorstep fraud involves fraudsters trying to scam you after knocking at your door.

Legitimate doorstep selling involves someone selling you goods or services in your home or on your doorstep. Many honest businesses use this technique – but so do fraudsters.

Buying on your doorstep can be convenient. However, a salesman who uses clever tactics can pressurise you into buying something you actually don't want or something that's poor value for money.

Door-to-door frauds can take many forms, including:

- pressure selling
- unfair contracts
- overpriced or substandard home maintenance or improvements
- phoney consumer surveys
- bogus charity collections.

Such frauds involve promoting goods or services that are either never delivered to you or are of a very poor quality. Fraudsters may also bill you for work that you didn't agree to. There are specific laws about door-to-door sales. Many are required to give you a 'cooling-off' period (where you can change your mind or request your money back). Bogus tradesmen will offer none of these, and even if they do, you can be sure their 'guarantee' will not be honoured.

Bogus salespeople will provide false identity or contact information, making it impossible for you to identify or contact them. If you've paid them in advance, you won't get your money back.

Even if your bank or insurance policy covers any loss, you'll still have to contend with a damaged credit rating, continued correspondence over a prolonged period to repair the damage, and the emotional distress and anxiety identity theft can cause.

Also, be wary of opening your door to a potential burglar or someone who wants to get inside your property to enable other people to break in. Once they get through your door, fraudulent salespeople can take note of your valuables and any security measures you have in place.

The victims

Victims are often vulnerable, elderly and/or isolated people who know nothing of these scams and so are trusting of anyone who is friendly or seems knowledgeable and genuine. After they have become a victim, they often feel ashamed and/or scared and so don't tell anyone. This not only means the original scam goes unreported but it also makes it easy for the rogue trader to return for more. The stress of the victim's shame or fear may also go on to cause physical or mental health problems. And even if the traders are reported they are often untraceable as they will have given the victim false contact details or none at all.

Are you a victim of bogus tradesmen fraud?

- You've bought faulty, overpriced or substandard goods or services from someone knocking at your door.
- You've paid for these goods or services by credit or debit card.

What should you do if you've been a victim of bogus tradesmen fraud?

- Report it to Action Fraud.
 - You can report the salesperson to the Citizens Advice on 0808 223 1133. or to the National Trading Standards if you believe they have sold you faulty, inferior or overpriced products or services.
- Similarly, you can seek advice from Citizens Advice about the terms and conditions of any agreement or contract you may have signed.
- If you've made the payment by credit/debit card or by cheque, contact your credit card company and/or bank and advise them that you're a victim of improper door-to-door sales techniques and your identity or financial details may have been compromised. They'll advise you on cancelling payments and ensuring your finances remain secure.

RECYCLING INFORMATION FOR RESIDENTS

What is contamination?

- It is placing non-recyclable materials or items into your blue recycling bin/clear sacks.
- It is placing items into your recycling bin/clear sacks which have not been emptied or rinsed well enough.
- Placing recycling in black sacks is also classed as contamination as we are unable to see the contents inside the bag. Placing recycling into the bin loosely is preferred, please do not use carrier bags or white sacks to dispose of your recycling in your blue bin.

Please help by following the 3 Simple Steps to getting your recycling right:

- STICK TO THE DRY RECYCLING LIST ONLY: Paper and cardboard, glass bottles and jars, metal food and drinks cans, foil, plastic bottles, tubs, pots and trays
- MAKE SURE ALL RECYCLING IS CLEAN BEFORE IT GOES INTO YOUR RECYCLING BIN/CLEAR SACKS: You do not need to use clean water for this. Once you have finished washing up, just give the recycling a quick rinse before putting it in your blue bin or pop it in your dishwasher!
- DO NOT PUT ANY OF THE TOP 4 CONTAMINATES IN YOUR RECYCLING BIN/CLEAR SACKS
 1. Nappies/Sanitary Items
 2. Textiles/Electrical Items
 3. Black sacks (we cannot empty bins where recycling is in black sacks)
 4. Food/Unclean containers

Please see the full list of what you can recycle on our website:

www.swale.gov.uk/recycling-blue-bin

or by using the QR Code

New year, new Challenge? Volunteer befrienders needed in your local community!

Our wonderful team of volunteer befrienders already make a huge difference in the lives of the local people they visit.

Each week a befriender and their “friend” might enjoy a chat and a cuppa together or perhaps play a game, do puzzles, swap stories and hopefully enjoy some laughs. This should be an hour a week for both parties to look forward to. Befrienders are also a valuable set of eyes and ears to spot potential problems and can work in conjunction with the organisation to sign-post service users when required.

Our befrienders are not allowed to become involved in personal care, domestic tasks, administering medication, financial/legal matters or offer formal advice.

- Are you 18 or over with about an hour a week to spare to bring a smile to someone and reduce loneliness?
- Are you kind, patient and compassionate with an ability to empathise and engage with individuals regardless of cultural or social background?
- Could make a difference to someone by bringing the outside world in and brightening their day?
- Do you have an ability to work with older individuals with a friendly and enthusiastic approach?

If the above applies to you and you would like to apply or find out more, please get in touch with our Befriending Coordinator via email nikki.holt@ageukfs.org.uk or by phone on 01795 532766

A DBS check and references will be required along with mandatory training.

SCAM WARNING

Electric toothbrush scam emails reported 10,000 times

Action Fraud has received 9,981 reports relating to fake emails purporting to giveaway a free Oral-B iO Series 9 Electric Toothbrush. The emails usually impersonate well-known retailers, such as Boots, and claim that the recipient will receive their free toothbrush if they simply follow the links in the email and complete a feedback form. The links in the emails lead to malicious websites designed to steal personal and financial information.

• If you have any doubts about a message, contact the organisation directly. Don't use the numbers or address in the message - use the details from their official website. Your bank (or any other official source) will never ask you to supply personal information via email.

Bank Impersonation/Courier Fraud

We have received reports where victims are being targeted by criminals impersonating their Bank. They will state they are from their Banks Fraud Department and that they are passing them through to the "Fraud Squad" as their Bank account is being used for Fraud. They will ask them to withdraw cash as part of an investigation and to post the money to an address that the criminals supply. The Scam appears all very plausible and is designed to panic the victims into complying with the criminals wishes.

Your Bank or Police will never call like this and ask you to withdraw cash to be posted to an address or to be collected by a courier.

If you get a call like this and are unsure, then STOP. Get their details and then call 159 for your Banks Fraud Department or 101 for the Police but using a different telephone to the one that you were originally called on. If you do not have a different telephone to hand, then wait 5 minutes and ring a family member or friend to ensure the line has been disconnected.

If you think that you may have been a victim of this or any other type of scam, then contact your Bank immediately, which you can do by calling 159 and report it to Action Fraud at www.actionfraud.police.uk or call 0300 123 2040.

HMRC Scams are on the increase

We have received reports recently of criminals impersonating HMRC and telephoning people stating that they owed money for back tax or a fine and that unless paid immediately they would send the Police to arrest them. They will often tell you to pay this by Bank Transfer or to buy gift cards and to call them with the gift card numbers.

It is a SCAM - HMRC would never call you like this and will never threaten you with arrest.

For more advice check the following HMRC website –

Delivery Scams Happening Now

We have received reports of Kent residents receiving packages addressed to them but found that they contained items that they had not ordered. A short while after the packages were delivered a courier is reported to have re-attended their address to collect the packages, claiming they had been delivered in error and that they will take them back for them.

However, it is a scam. As the criminals have ordered the goods and then arranged delivery to the victim in the victim's name and to the victim's home address, with the criminals then collecting the goods stating that they were delivered by mistake.

The first time the victim knows that there is a problem, is when they are contacted for payment of the goods. Often the items ordered are high value Mobile Phones and Laptops.

If goods are delivered that you have not ordered and are marked with your address, then you should inform the company that sent it and wait for them to send a courier. Always check with them which courier company is making the collection and when they will arrive. If someone knocks on the door claiming to have come to pick it up after it was delivered by mistake, then do not hand the items over.

If you think that you may have been a victim of this or any other type of scam, then contact your Bank immediately, which you can do by calling 159 and report it to Action Fraud at www.actionfraud.police.uk or call 0300 123 2040.
